These raises will average to about $1,000 more per year for full-time county employees, and $500 more for part-time workers.

The mayor and city council did not receive raises this year, but certain other elected officials will.

Radio pioneer enjoys retirement in Hancock, but misses 'glory days'

BY JOHN WATERMAN Staff Writer

Even though he has been. retired for 17 years, Hugh Smith still has his radio

For almost 50 years, the 78-year-old resident of Clermont Harbor worked in the broadcast industry. His career began in 1942, when the manager of his hometown radio station asked him if the then 17-year old Smith needed a job.

"I thought it would only be temporary," Smith said. "I assumed that I would be drafted like most young men during World War II."

Smith's chosen profession ended up keeping him out of the war entirely, however.

"Radio was declared to be indispensable to the war effort," Smith said. "I couldn't quit'er change jobs without an official release."

At the time, KFFA, based in Helena, Arkansas, was the first station to play blues and jazz, which was at the time categorized as "race music," and frowned upon by the broadcast industry.

While Clarksdale, MS has long been credited for starting blues on the airwaves, Smith said that KFFA beat them to it by about 10 years.

"We were doing that before Clarksdale even had a radio station," Smith said.

King Biscuit Time, the program that Smith hosted for nearly a decade, featured many musicians who would later go on to become household names in the industry: "Sonny Boy" Robert Williamson, Hugh Smith, at his Clermont Harbor home.

Williams, Lockwood "Pinetop" Perkins, and the now-legendary B.B. King.

While working for The Blue Network, which would later become ABC, Smith said he travelled the country working at various stations. While on the west coast, he became friends with several celebrities, including Alan Ladd, perhaps best known for playing the title role in "Shane," and Joe Price, an animator who created "Tom and Jerry," as well as voicing characters such as Speedy Gonzales and Droopy Dog.

After marrying in 1951, Smith took a job at WLOX in Biloxi, which was at that time a radio station. Smith said that WLOX broadcast out of the Buena Vista

Hotel. "On commercial broadcasts on the networks, we were not allowed to approach a microphone without a tux," he said

Smith said he felt that radio today has none of the class or charm that it used

"After I retired in 1987, I walked into the remains of WLOX studios. It was heartbraking after being a part of the glory days in the Buena Vista Hotel."

Smith spent much of his career working for radio stations in the Louisiana-

Last week the Pirates put up a great effort in defense, but was unable to generate offense as

This is always a great event in the area and the thousands of participants like to come to our end of the coast because they receive our special hospitality.

So, we should see lots of vintage vehicles in our area for the next couple of weeks.

The big Cruisin' the Coast activities to take place in Bay St. Louis and Waveland is set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 7, 8, and 9th.

Once again, I cannot wait to see how great the vehicles of my childhood look when restored.

Bush invited a fresh look at his own questionable performance when his carrier-based plane was hit by Japanese anti-aircraft fire September 1944.

Then barely 20 years old, Bush, as pilot of a Navy torpedo bomber, bailed out, parachuting into the Pacific off Chichi

Jima and was rescued. But his two crewmen, the radioman and the tail gunner on the torpedo bomber, were not as fortunate as

into the sea.

Back 12 years ago, when Bush was running for reelection as president I looked into what happened to his crewmen when Bush's carrier-based plane was shot down during a raid on the Japanese-held Bonin Islands.

My curiosity was piqued by the fact that at the time I was an officer on a Navy destroyer that for two years in the Pacific War picked up dozens of downed carrier pilots and crewmen. That was our main task other than shooting down enemy planes threatening the carriers we guarded.

Further, as part of Task Force 38, my ship participated in the operation around the Bonin Islands at the time when Bush's plane went down. We could have been his rescuer. Instead, USS Finback, a submarine, got to him.

When Bush came into prominence on the political scene in the 1980s, becoming elected vice-president and then president, several biographical and personal experience books were written about him.

What struck me on reading three of them was that Bush gave different versions of what he did when his plane was hit and then what happened to his two crewmen.

How do we know when to evacuate?

Having recently moved to Waveland we received numerous confusing and conflicting reports and advice on evacuation. While at work on Tuesday in Jackson County there was a wide-spread email to evacuate everything south of I-10. Subsequent reports usually differentiated between a recommendation and a mandatory evacuation. We also heard of evacuations south of the railroad and evacuations south Highway 90. Some were accompanied by reference to Zones A. B. and/or C. Some were not. Some were on radio and television. Back in Waveland we talked with neighbors. Everyone had their own thoughts on when to go. One neighbor told us where the surge water came to in Frederick. After the storm one neighbor told us where the surge water reached in Camille - that Subsequent to Ivan I pieced together a few items from conversations.

-- Each county publishes its own emergency messages. If the message you hear or see does not mention the county then find one that does.

--The counties do issue advisory evacuation warnings and mandatory evacuation warnings.

-Regrettably there are Flooding Zones A, B, and C wall as Hurricane Evacuation Zones A, B, and C! And they are not the same. Who ever dreamed this up?

--Different experts can have different opinions as to who should evacuate. If you live in Waveland and are south of the railroad then you are in Emergency Evacuation Zone A and will be in the first group told to leave due to storm surge.

NVision Solutions named "Innovator of the Year"

Enterprise for real-time Innovative Geospatial (EIGS) has Solutions announced that member company NVision Solutions has been selected by Louisiana Governor, Kathleen Blanco, as the 2004 "Innovator of the Year."

The selection is part of the 2nd Annual Governor's Technology Awards which recognizes the best of Louisiana's high-tech businesses, universities and individual leaders. NVision Solutions is a geospatial technology company with offices in Bay St. Louis, and Slidell, LA.

We are honored to have been chosen for this award. In the past, people have had a hard time understanding technology and how it can impact their everyday lives. However, I think we have reached a critical mass where we no longer have that barrier. Technology is the wave of the future and people are recognizing it," said Craig Harvey, Chief Information Officer for NVision Solutions.

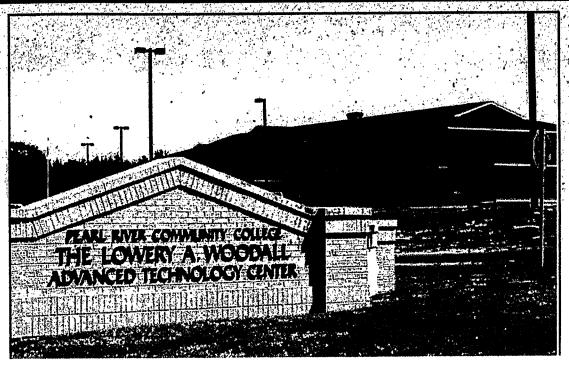

So what does NVision do that garnered this prestigious honor? Imagine this. A hurricane rips through a state leaving destruction in its wake. How does a community respond? The Real-Time Emergency Action Coordination Tool (REACT), recently implemented in St. Tammany Parish, is NVision's flagship product. The program monitors river stages and records climatic data, incorporating this information with area population statistics to devise emergency response and evacuation plans in the event of a dis-

Two years ago NVision Solutions was a startup company founded by Socorro Harvey. Now the company is an established leader in geospatial solutions - providing answers to everything from natural disasters and homeland security response issues to knowing exactly when your child's bus will pick him up. NVision is currently developing a system to allow parents to track their child's school bus, minimizing wait time. They have also developed free software to teach future farmers the value of geospatial technology for farming and are producing software to use recreationally, for hobbies such as bird watching.

The NVision team will be honored at an awards luncheon at 11:45 a.m.. October 14, in the River City Exhibition Hall in Baton Rouge as part of the Louisiana Business and Technology Expo, Baton Rouge Business Report's business-to-business trade show.

About 90 Kohler employees from around the world received their training in the auditorium, where all the seats have movable writing surfaces and 40 seats are equipped for computer hook-up.

of Marine Department Resources (DMR) will hold a public hearing Wednesday, Oct. 6, 2004 at 6 p.m. in the auditorium of the Bolton State Office Building at 1141 Bayview Ave., Biloxi, where public comments will be received on the proposed filling of wetlands in Hancock County. The project site is located off Blue Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The applicant, Chris Manasco, is requesting permission to fill approximately 0.60 acre of tidal and nontidal wetlands adjacent to tidal marsh and Bayou Lazere. Portions of the wetlands have been filled without prior regulatory authorization. Also proposed is the maintenance dredging of 3,000 cubic yards of material from Bayou Lazere and the adjacent canal for navigational purposes. Dredge material will be disposed of at an on-site location. A bulkhead measuring 870 linear feet in length is proposed along Bayou Lazere and the unnamed canal adjacent to the property. Rocks win big, Bay falls to Stone; Cuevas & Ellis share honors

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

All area teams were back in action this past Friday night. The Bay High Tigers fell from the ranks of the undefeated and · St. Stanislaus put up on an impressive show for their alumni returning for Homecoming.

The Hawks and Pirates remained winless in 2004 with their games against Brandon and Gautier, respectively.

Bay High (4-1, 1-0) dropped their game to Stone County last Friday 41-20 and suffered their first loss in 2004.

The Tigers seemed to be in control at halftime with a 13-7 lead: however. Stone County changed that with a 69-yard pass play to start the second half of action and tied the game at 13-13.

On their ensuing possession, Bay High fumbled the ball back to Stone County and the Tomcats took the lead on a 14-yard score from Earvin Moore.

But, the play that put the game out of reach was a 68yard interception return that gave the Tomcats a 14point lead 27-13.

Bay High pulled to within 27-20 with six minutes left but Stone County protected scores late in the game on two runs by Moore for 67 yards and 18 yards.

For Bay High, Antonio Hawkins scored twice on runs of three and one yards. Blaize connected with Lorenzo Lewis for a 67-yard scoring pass. Blaize threw for 238 yards on 19-of-32 passing with two picks and a touchdown pass. Lewis had 3 catches for 87 yards. Destin Thomas had five catches for 75 yards and Steven Dauenhauer had six catches for 34 yards. Hawkins racked up 96 yards rushing. Defensively, the Tigers were led by Robert Labat with 10 tackles.

The Tigers will take to the road this week to play Gautier who defeated Pass Christian 14-3 last Friday night.

The St. Stanislaus Rocka-chaws (3-1, 1-0) put on an impressive show for their alumni returning Homecoming 2004 as they defeated East Central 47-10.

The Rocks sprinted to a 34-0 halftime score behind some terrific offensive performances. Lance Cuevas threw for 196 yards and three touchdowns and ran for another in the game while Josh Duplessis added and 154 yards on 11 carries. Duplessis had scoring runs of 25 yards and 58 yards.

Lee Klein scored from two yards out to round out the Rocks' scoresheet.

On the receiving end of Cuevas' touchdown throws ' were Michael Cure for 23 vards. Brennen Thomas for 25 yards and Jordan Ellis for five yards.

However, the defense certainly did their part in aiding the offensive performance. The Rocks allowed just 111 yards of total offense with most of that coming in the fourth quarter. East Central did not have a first down and negative-12 yards of total offense in the first half.

Jordan Ellis led the team with 15 total tackles followed by Lee Klein with 13 total tackles.

The Rocks will hit the road this Friday for a showdown with the Vancleave Bulldogs (4-1, 1-0) who defeated the D'Iberville Warriors 40-14.

The Hancock Hawks (0-5, 0-1) remained winless after their home contest with Brandon ended in a 42-9

The Hawks took advantage of a 71-yard opening kickoff return by Anthony their lead with two more two scores on the ground Guidry to take their first lead of 2004. Justin Ratcliff booted a 28-yard field goal to give Hancock a 3-0 lead.

Brandon answered with a score of their own and reclaimed the lead for good. The Hawks would not score again until late in the third quarter when the score was 42-3. Mark Fairley broke free on an 80-yard scoring run for Hancock which made the final score.

Fairley ended the night with 128 yards rushing for Hancock. Defensively. Brently Necaise led the team with 9 tackles followed by John Lacoste with seven tackles and Corey O'Rear

The Hawks will be at home at Brett Favre Field this Friday when they take on #10-ranked Oak Grove who lost last week to Northwest Rankin 37-15.

The Pirates of Pass Christian (0-5, 0-1) held Gautier to 14 points but were only able to muster a 22-yard field goal in return. Jaren Bowser rushed for 117 yards on 22 carries and added 8 solo tackles on defense for the Pirates. The Gators scored late to following a 62-yard run that set up the final touchdown. The Pirates entertain D'Iberville for Homecoming on Friday night. The Warriors lost to Vancleave last week 40-14.

The Offensive Player of the Week for Week #5 is SSC's Lance Cuevas. The junior Rock quarterback threw for 196 yards and three touchdowns on 7-of-13 passing. He also ran for one score in the Rocks' 47-10 Homecoming rout of East Central.

However, the junior varisty claimed a win over Gulfport in three games 25-21, 20-25 and 15-8.

The Lady Hawks will play their final two home games this week against Oak Grove on Tuesday and Hattiesburg on Thursday. The game against Hattiesburg is Senior Night.

Meyers earns shutout in goal in first MSU start

STARKVILLE, Miss. -Sophomore Sara Moore's Golden Goal just more than two minutes into the first overtime period helped homestanding Mississippi State get the better end of a dogfight with visiting Georgia as the Marcon and White used a bend-but-notbreak defense to stifle the Red and Black in extra time Sunday afternoon at the Mississippi State Soccer Field.

The goal was the first of the season for Moore, who became famous after scoring her second career goal last season in MSU's upset of No. 6 Florida on Senior Night. Junior Emily Meyers tallied 13 saves in her first career start in the nets for the Bulldogs. The number brought her weekend total to 18 after collecting five in a second half appearance Friday evening against No. 16 Tennessee.

The Bulldogs now also have their first winning streak in their seven-game series with Georgia having captured their first victory in the series by a 1-0 count last season on the road.

"Georgia plays a difficult system that is very difficult figure out," said Mississippi State head coach Neil Macdonald. "We took our time to find out what we needed to do and, in the second half, we did much better, especially in the last 15 or 20 minutes. I think our fitness level kind of kicked in a little bit toward the end of the game as well. All that hard work we did this summer paid off.

"We fought for this win from beginning to end. I realize that they got a lot of the possession time in the game, but they were unable to do anything with it. When we got our chances, we took advantage of them.' State controlled much of the first 10 minutes of play, but Georgia turned it up a notch after Moore's initial shot of the game was blocked in the 11th minute of play. The Red and Black would get a majority of the possession time over the next 15 minutes, with spots of Maroon and White offensive attacks making interruptions in the Georgia gameplan. Meyers would get tested in bunches from her vantage point under the MSU crossbar but, each time, more than proved she was up to the task. UGA got a pair of quality chances in the final six minutes of the opening period, but both of Karen Zmirak's shots were easily collected by Meyers.

The hosts came out of the halftime gates with a purpose and, after surrendering a handful of shots to their guests, slammed on the accelerator and threatened to take over the game on several occasions. After trading hard fouls from both sides of the ball, MSU took over the last 19 minutes of the final half of regulation, including firing off four out of the last five shots heading into the short intermission before sudden death.

After an initial shot by Randi-Lynn Bruso in overtime forced Emily Meyers to leave her feet for her 13th save of the contest, State put together an immediate counterattack that, ultimately, found paydirt. Having taken the ball to the other end of the pitch, April Berry's pass across the top of the box inadvertently found the hand of UGA midfielder Elizabeth Metherell, warranting an MState indirect kick from about 22 vards out. Karen Sandrik's boot ricocheted off the head of Ngum Suh and found Moore standing tall far post. Moore finished with a header that Georgia netminder Ashley Lindley had no chance of saving.

Mississippi State will return to action on Tuesday evening when the Bulldogs step out of conference for their first official road contest of the season at Jacksonville State (3-7-0). Kickoff has been set for 7 p.m. at the JSU Soccer Field. The game, which was originally slated to be played on September 17, was rescheduled after Hurricane Ivan brought heavy rain and strong winds throughout the state of Alabama.

trees to avoid, or at least minimize, further damage.

You may be wondering about the possibilities of standing trees back up. To be perfectly honest, only smaller trees and shrubs are good candidates. These will need to be anchored by two or three guide wires. To prevent injury, flag these wires so they are easily visible.

If you believe a tree can be reset, but you are unable to do it quickly, keep the exposed roots covered and moist until repositioning. After standing a tree back into position, you will notice that there are now large pockets to fill in. Use soil and water to eliminate the air pockets, and be sure you do not leave excess soil that can also cause damage.

If you have to remove a lot of trees, you will quickly notice a change in the landscape from the standpoint of sun and shade. After a tornado a couple of years ago that took out 47 trees at my home, my shade garden with hostas and ferns was suddenly getting full sun. Azaleas that had been getting afternoon shade were now being cooked.

Because we're entering our cool season, you may be able to procrastinate a bit. Perennials can be moved early next spring with the emergence of growth.

After the trees removed, go through the landscape and remove broken limbs from shrubs and cut back herbaceous plants as needed.

The damaged landscape will not need any fertilizer until the plants overcome their shock and get reestablished.

There are Plenty of Ways to Save Money on Home Projects ant to know how to save costs when building. a new home or remodeling an older home? Industry experts have two major tips for you. First, research the building products that go into your home. Second, listen to building industry professionals.

who "Homeowners research the advantages and disadvantages of a product, the lifespan of the product, and the warranty offered by the manufacturer, are steps ahead in making the right choices for their home," says Don Zeman, host of the nationally syndicated home improvement radio show, Homefront with Don Zeman. "Consider it your 'job' to gain product information so that you can make smart choices. Review Web sites, read home improvement magazines, listen to radio shows, watch TV programs and carefully go from manufacturers.

"Knowledge is powerful. Your research can make the difference between selecting a product based on a goodlooking advertisement and choosing a product that will give you a good return on your investment.'

According to Zeman, who was a contractor and builder for 25 years before starting his home improvement radio show, the next thing to do is consider the advice of your building professional. Builders and remodelers live and breathe building products. They deal with products everyday and can give you great input on what products hold up well over time, which ones may not be suitable for your project and how you can save money by investing in 'alternative' products such as urethane millwork, fiber cement siding and acrylic block windows.

When selecting your contractor, make sure you pick someone who is up-to-speed on building products and who you trust to give you solid advice regarding the invest-ment you're making in your home." As Zeman knows, products chosen for new construction and remodeling projects can end up saving substantial job site time, labor and actual product costs. When looking at large building product expenditures for the home, people often think about roofing, siding and windows. These "big ticket" items can eat up a huge chunk of a budget, so it's important for homeowners to get actively involved in the selection of these items.

We look at windows as a long-term investment in a home and we encourage homeowners to view them the same way," says Vernon McClure, president of Main Street Homes of Richmond, Virginia. "To us, it makes no sense at all to recommend or install windows that homeowners are going to be through product literature unhappy with or need to replace in five years. That's why we take the time to explain energy efficiency. benefits to homeowners including different glass package options — and encourage them to purchase low maintenance vinyl windows. The investment in a top-quality vinyl window means that the homeowner will save on energy, maintenance and replacement costs during the lifespan of the home.

McClure, who installs Simonton ProFinish(R) windows, takes the time to explain the benefits of fusionwelded corners and seams to his customers.

"Builders and remodelers understand that selecting the least expensive product to put in a home is not the way to build a reputation," says McClure. "We try to share that knowledge with our customers. We've found that by partnering with a quality window manufacturer, we've built up a strong business and a good reputation with our customers.

While windows are definitely a "large ticket item" for homes, many builders and remodelers don't stop there with evaluating products that make good long-term investments for homeowners. Today's building industry professionals are as concerned with the selection of subflooring as they are with the choice of trim products.

"Our company's decision to use urethane millwork ultimately saves the homeowner money," says Jim Benoit, CR of Benoit & Czarnecki Design/Construction, LLC in Newtown Pennsylvania. "We used to create built-up interior moulding profiles exclusively out of wood. That process was extremely time-consuming, but the results were great.

"We've discovered that we can get the same quality look with one-piece urethane mouldings from Style Solutions. These larger mouldings are lightweight and install easily, so we're also saving our customers on installation time.

"There are still some projects where wood is the preferred application, but when we compare the cost of materials in creating a four-or five-piece wood moulding build-up to a one-piece ure-thane moulding product, we find that the urethane product is generally more cost effective. Overall, the product looks great, lasts forever and saves our customers money."

Benoit has found out what many building industry professionals already know: "alternative" products, sometimes called "look-a-likes," can save substantially on costs and labor. One remodeler, David Tyson of Charlotte, North Carolina, used to install only glass block windows until he found acrylic block products from Hy-Lite(R) Products, Now, whenever a client requests glass block windows from Tyson, his immediate response is to introduce them to acrylic block operable and fixed units as a smart alternative.

"The Hy-Lite acrylic block windows come as prefabricated units in frames, making them less bulky and heavy than glass block windows," says Tyson, owner and CEO of David Tyson & Associates. "As a result, we have quicker installation and instant gratification for our customers.

"We also like the acrylic block products because they're easy to finish the trim around the window inside and out. We firmly believe that using Hy-Lite(R) products has helped build our company's quality reputation while giving our customers rooms they can enjoy without worrying about privacy or light issues."

The range of decorating options reflective of past eras can take many directions, according to the design experts at Stroheim & Romann, the high-end resource for decorative fabrics, wallpapers and trimmings. Here are their tips for bringing the richness of the past to your home:

* Beautiful antique furniture and accessories can now be found in all price ranges. Everywhere, there are antique shops and flea markets offering everything from 18th century to mid-century

* A more practical option for many is to choose furnishings that are either direct reproductions of important antique styles or those freely inspired by them. Many of the pieces in retail stores and showrooms today reflect previous periods, and, in some cases, it may take an expert to determine if it is a true antique or a good reproduction

* Some of today's loveliest fabrics are inspired by vintage looks. Stroheim & Romann, for example, adapts antique patterns to create new fabrics, such as its Brocades III collection, which reflects opulent fabrics from the 18th and 19th centuries. In addition, its Chinoiserie, Manor and Provence collections also recreate period textiles.

* Besides brocades, other fabrics that reflect the past include damasks, velvets, moires, tapestries, silks, embroideries, sheers, paisleys and floral prints. Using these fabrics instantly imparts a timeless look.

* Architectural elements bring a historical dimension to a room. If your home is devoid of these details, they can be added as moldings, fireplace mantels, decorative woodwork, wainscoting, or ceiling beams.

* Choose accessories that complement your period style. Whether antique or brand new, lamps and chandeliers, vases, picture frames and artwork, clocks, pillows, and rugs can create a vintage mood. Stroheim & Romann's decorative drapery hardware, for example, includes adaptations of 19th century styles in gilt, wood or brass.

* Keep in mind that certain things have improved considerably since the 18th or 19th centuries, and sometimes modern reproductions are preferable to antiques. For example, queen- and king-sized beds did not exist then, nor did coffee tables. Upholstered furniture is far more comfortable now. Lighting choices are much broader, including subtle mood lighting, versatile dimmers and strong reading lights.

* Some of the most interesting rooms in the past had beautiful fabric-upholstered walls or wallpaper, a look that can readily be achieved today. Stroheim & Romann offers wallpaper collections, such as its Venetian, Arts & Crafts and Distinctive Damasks, that will bring the grandeur of the past to the most modern home.

Stroheim & Romann fabrics and wallpapers are available from interior designers and design show-rooms.

Marble has both scientific and commercial definitions. Scientific marble was originally limestone that was transformed into marble by intense pressure and high temperatures within the earth. Before temperatures drop, make it a priority to give your windows a thorough examination. Why? Because a home's windows are one of the chief ways that heat can be lost during blustery winter months, resulting in higher energy bills.

To help with your inspection, follow these tips from the experts:

Tip #1 - Check every window and door to make sure there is adequate weatherstripping and caulking which will ensure a secure seal around the openings in your home.

Tip #2 — Seal up any little cracks or gaps where air can leak into your home. Many experts believe the average home has enough of these small holes to equal one three-foot by three-foot open-in the autumn to help save on your home's energy bills.

Tip #4 — Make sure to lock all the hardware on your windows. This creates a strong seal that prevents cold air from coming into the home. Even when closed, an unlocked window can still allow air to escape.

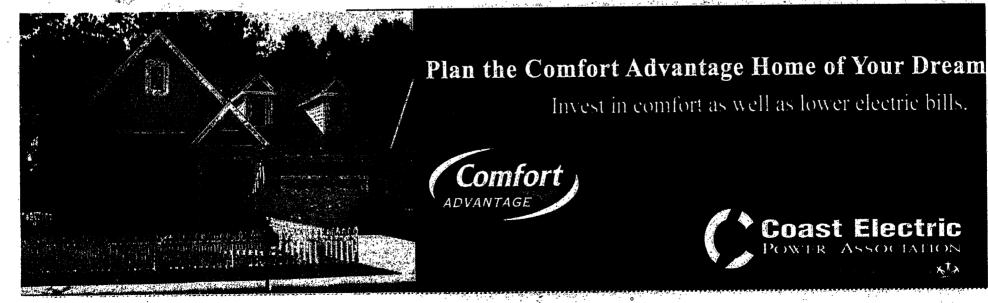

Tip #5 — Examine your windows. Make sure they're doing their part to help insulate your home. Check for hot and cold spots or drafty areas inside your home near windows, which can indicate energy loss.

If you decide it's time to replace your windows, don't wait until the Spring thaw. Replacing windows before winter weather sets in can save your family substantially on heating bills this year. And, when shopping for windows, make certain to specify energy efficient windows that meet the ENERGY STAR(R) guidelines.

Five Easy Tips for Creative Kitchen Makeovers

ooking for ways to upgrade the look of your kitchen without breaking your budget? Design experts at Style Solutions recommend adding durable urethane millwork products for fast and easy transformations. Since urethane resists moisture and high humidity, it's ideal for embellishing your kitchen.

Try these tips to add pizzazz to your kitchen.

Tip #1 — Look up. Is your kitchen ceiling boring? If so, add decorative mouldings and ceiling medallions. New Miterless Moulding Systems require only straight cuts with no mitering, so installation is quick and simple. And, if you have a ceiling fan or light, you can add a two-piece ceiling medallion around the fixture in less than 10 minutes.

Tip #2 — Add brackets, corbels and pediments to the top of cabinets or under kitchen islands to give a more finished and decorative look to the room. These pieces can be painted, stained or faux finished to complement your kitchen décor.

Tip #3 — Add distinct accent pieces. A small wall niche inserted between the studs provides the perfect space for a flower arrangement.

Tip #4 — Top your windows and doors with elegant crossheads and pediments. Don't limit the use of these unique pieces to the exterior of your home — bring the beauty of these decorative pieces inside and dress up your kitchen by installing them above your kitchen door and windows.

Tip #5 — Create extra shelf space for spices, knickknacks, candles and plants by using simple corbels or brackets with lightweight boards to make shelves.

Utilizing storage solutions and tossing unused gadgets can help keep your kitchen organized and clutter-free.

Scale Down Kitchen Clutter

he kitchen is one of the busiest spaces in a home. Cooking, eating, entertain-ing and socializing all happen in the kitchen it's the main gathering place in the home. As a result, it is likely the most unorganized room in the house. If your kitchen cabinets and junk drawers are jammed and overflowing, you are running out of counter space, or you can never find what you need when you need it, it's time to take control of your kitchen clutter. Here are some tips to organize your kitchen and keep it clutter-free, courtesy of organized-mom.com.

1. Create an organizational plan. Establish work stations like a restaurant does and keep related items at each station; prep area, cooking, baking and cleaning.

2. Purchase storage solutions. Plastic bins, baskets, containers, racks and freestanding units are inexpensive storage ideas. You can find deals at dollar stores, or check stores that carry overstocks, closeouts and slightly dented items. You may even be able to re-use items you already own. For instance, a shoebox covered with the same contact paper as your shelves can store spice bot-tles. If you are short on cabinet space but have plenty of wall space, try using an old bureau to store canned goods, towels, extra dishes or cookware. Don't forget to nest items inside one another to maximize space,

3. Every item needs its own home. When items have a designated place, they tend to get put away. If they don't, they tend to get lost. Utilize bins and baskets wherever possible to keep "like things" together and readily accessible. Go vertical to free up horizontal space. Utilize the empty vertical wall space in a nearby closet by installing shelves that can be used to store canned goods. Install hanging broom and mop holders.

Employ hooks, pegboards and Lazy Susans. If your counter space is at a premium, mount some of your small appliances under the cabinets.

4. Toss clutter, Get rid of what is old and what you don't use. Check expiration dates of herbs, yeast, baking powder, etc. Throw out cooking gadgets that are gathering dust. Remove items on counters that don't belong in the kitchen.

5. Organize for maximum efficiency. Place items near each other if they will be used together. If your coffee maker sits on the counter, store the coffee cups, filters and sugar in the cabinet above it.

6. Clean everything.
Tackle cabinets, drawers, shelves, countertops, refrigerator, oven; etc. Replace tattered dish towels and torn or worn shelf paper.

7. Keep out clutter. Since you've spent all that time organizing your kitchen, you'll want to make sure it remains clutter free. Set aside some time once a month to check for clutter buildup, and spend a few minutes each night putting away anything that doesn't belong in the kitchen.

Many rooms of the house including the bathroom can be made over in just a few short days.

If your bathroom could use a few cosmetic improvements, there are simple steps you can take for a big impact:

* Throw away any accessories that you don't use regularly. Clutter can drag down the look of any room.

Freshen the color of the paint in a semi-gloss finish. This finish will help repel moisture and will be easier to clean. You may also want to choose a paint that offers mildew resistance.

Emerging Trends in Vent-Free Appliances for Remodeling Projects

ne of the today's most sought-after home amenities is a working fire-place. But many homes have no fireplace, some have a fireplace that doesn't work, and some have woodburning fireplaces that work fine but are considered just too much trouble to use.

Now many home remodelers believe they have found a practical and economical answer — the vent-free gas fireplace. The defining benefit of a vent-free gas product is that there's no need for venting, a hole-in-the-wall or a chimney — only access to a natural gas or propane supply line. That means the homeowner can affordably install an irresistible and captivating hearth just about anyplace he or she wants in the home.

Vent-free gas fireplaces, logs, inserts, stoves and space heaters are now being used for 99 percent efficient supplemental heating in more than 15 million American homes. Because most ventfree gas products do not require electricity, they can also provide emergency heating during power failures.

VENT-FREE APPLIANCE TRENDS

As more and more ventfree gas products find their way into America's households, new trends are emerging in the way consumers include vent-free products in their home remodeling projects. For example, increasing numbers of homeowners are now using vent-free gas logs in masonry and woodburning fireboxes. Because vent-free products do not require a flue, chimney or vent, their installation is an especially cost-effective home improve-

Another useful emerging trend for the home remodeler is the super-sized vent-free fireplace. Homeowners are increasingly opting for expansive gathering rooms in their homes. To satisfy this growing demand, several manufacturers have recently introduced vent-free gas logs that are 36 inches or more in length. These spectacular logs are often paired with large vent-free fireboxes that are 50 inches or more in breadth and proportionately tall. The result is a super-sized, alluring hearth that provides 99 percent efficient heat and saves money by zone heating, whereby you can lower the home's thermostat and still enjoy safe and instant heating in room(s) you are using. Virtually all vent-free products come with an optional remote control; all remotes can be hand-held and some can be wall-mounted. Today, many homeowners are looking for a solution to "remotitis," that is, the proliferation of remote controls cluttering up the room. With remotes for the TV, VCR, DVD player, satellite unit and other appliances, some homeowners feel that the last thing they need is another hand-held remote control to get buried or lost. Consumers are solving this problem with their vent-free gas heating appliance's remote by mounting it on a wall, where the temperature can be preset and the unit controlled quickly and easily. Yet another remodeling trend is the installation of vent-free gas fireplaces outdoors. Homeowners are taking advantage of the extremely efficient heating of vent-free fireplaces to cozy up their backyard decks and patios and even city terraces and rooftops. Outdoor fireplaces extend the use of decks and pools during seasonal changes. Many outdoor vent-free fireplaces feature full firebox openings and stainless steel construction, and they all add a stylish and comforting touch that turns an outdoor spot into a beautiful retreat.

Especially attractive to homeowners is that vent-free products come in an enormous selection of styles, sizes and colors to suit any home decor. Gas logs are available in a variety of styles in woods, including driftwood, oak, weathered oak, maple, pine, aspen, birch and many others. The homeowner can select a wood that's appropriate to his or her region. There's also a choice of log types, such as split oak and solid pieces of wood, as well as glowing embers. This year, homeowners seeking something a little different can even install a realistic set of coals in a gas-fired coal basket.

Every vent-free gas product sold in the United States is equipped with a precisionengineered Oxygen Detection Safety-Pilot (ODS), which automatically shuts off the gas supply if the oxygen level in the room approaches a defined minimum set by the National Product Safety Standard. Since the introduction of the ODS in 1980, vent-free gas products have accumulated an outstanding safety record

Decorate a Room For a Growing Baby In Order to Save Time, Money Later

Baby is on the way, and now you need to get the room ready for your new arrival. Remember that while you may have a design concept in mind, you also want the room to grow with your child through the years. Here are a few tips to get the most play out of your nursery:

* It may be tempting to give the nursery a "baby" feel, but then you will have to re-decorate when your baby gets older. Instead, use accessories to achieve that baby feeling.

* A crib that turns into a bed and a changing table that doubles as a dresser will stretch your budget.

* Plan for storage. Babies have a lot of "baggage," including clothing for growth spurts. Make sure you have enough room to house everything

* Place a cozy chair in the room for nights when you need to sit with baby.

Painting: Professional Results

n any painting job, selecting the right shade is only the first of many steps to ensure a successful project. The equipment you use and how you use it, surface preparation and the type of paint impacts the final finish quality and color of the paint on the walls. Here are a few recommendations from painting professionals.

1. Which brush or roller should I buy? For large, flat areas, a 1/2 inch to 3/4 inch synthetic composition roller will apply the paint most evenly, as long as you don't overload your roller with paint. For more irregular surfaces, use a nylon-polyester blend bristle brush and maintain a wet edge while you paint. "Although the recommended brush and roller may cost a few dollars more, they will save time and paint by getting great coverage the first time," says Bill Hudson, product manager Industries. Masterchem makers of KILZ(TM) Casual Colors(TM) paint.

2. How do I prepare the Preparing the wall surface, buying the right paint, and using the proper equipment results in a high-quality, professionally painted finish.

For previously surface? painted items, the surface must be cleaned, dried and in good condition. If you are painting high- gloss surfaces such as cabinets or furniture, take the gloss off by lightly sanding with 180 to 220 grit sand paper. Where necessary, wash with a non-soapy detergent such as trisodium phosphate (TSP) or a TSP substitute. Rinse well and allow to dry before painting. When working with unpainted and porous surfaces, prime before applying a topcoat of paint. For stained surfaces, be sure to seal the stain with a stainblocking primer such as KILZ(R) Premium(R) before applying the topcoat of paint.

3. What sheen is best for the space I am painting? Most paint brands offer several sheens. Using a flat or semi-gloss paint can make a difference in the look of the topcoat once its on the wall. Consider the space being painted, its lighting, moisture levels and traffic flow when determining the best uren & Hwy 90, Waveland, MS (Next to Me)tomalds) sheen for your project.

For ceilings and walls with minor surface imperfections, the minimal reflectance of a flat sheen looks best. A satin sheen provides a pearl-like finish that is durable enough for bathrooms, kids' rooms and mildew-prone areas. Semi-gloss paint offers similar durability to the satin sheen, with an easier-to clean finish that is perfect for kitchens. For the highest traffic areas, high gloss provides durability in areas subject to scuff marks and splashes, such as cabinets and trim.

4. How much paint do I need? Paint composition varies, but it is generally recommended to estimate one gallon for every 300 to 350 square feet on smooth, sealed surfaces and 200 to 300 square feet on rough surfaces. If painting over a previous color, many brands of paint require several coats to adequately hide the existing color. For a time, energy and cost-saving alternative, look for paint that offers one-coat coverage over any color. KILZ Casual Colors, a one-coat paint, has 243 guaranteed one-coat colors for coverage over any previously applied color. "By only having to paint your wall once, you are saving time and money while achieving a long-lasting, quality look," says Hudson.

it's much more important than many homeowners think. Rain flowing over windows, doors, and siding can rot fascia as well as door and window framing. It can erode the soil around your home and damage its foundation, and also cause a wet basement. To help keep gutters operating properly and to protect your investment, try these tips:

1. Think Safety First. Always use a solid, quality ladder to reach your gutters. Safety glasses and gloves are a good idea, too. And watch out for power lines.

2. Use the Right Tools for the Job. In addition to needing something to contain gutter debris, you'll also need a tool to scoop it out. The Gutter Getter Scoop from Working Products, Inc. is a good option. It's flexible and shaped to fit the gutter, plus it will keep your hands away from the debris.

3. Don't Over-reach. Overreaching can destabilize your ladder and cause you to fall. Instead, consider using a special tool to extend your reach. The Gutter Grabber is a cleaning tool on an extension pole that lets you clean up to 18 feet of gutter without moving your ladder.

4. Check the Downspouts, Too. If the spout is clogged, a coat hanger or the handle of your Gutter Grabber can help get the debris out of the spout. Then, use a garden hose to flush out any remaining debris. For stubborn clogs, it may be necessary to remove the downspout and back flush it with the hose. Covering your downspout with a strainer such as the Gutter Getter Big Top Downspout Strainer will help reduce future clogging, too.

5. Clean Gutters Anytime They Need It. Most homeowners know they need to clean their gutters in the fall. But once you understand the importance of gutters, you'll know why its vital to clean them out anytime they get full. To protect the value of your home, keep your gutters clean through the year.

Using the right tools makes gutter cleaning easier and faster improvement indicate that outdoor spaces, such as patios, continue to be just as important to curb appeal and market value as the gourmet kitchen and luxury bathroom. Smart Money magazine estimates that landscaping and hardscaping can increase home values by as much as 15 percent, while the National Association of Realtors found that outdoor rooms can deliver a 77 percent return on investment at sale time - and they're less expensive per square foot than additions or kitchen and bath remodels.

Choosing materials for your hardscapes (paved areas) is crucial to creating the "feel" you want. No other landscape decision will play such an important role in making your yard a livable extension of your home. And only genuine clay pavers are created from the earth itself, making it a natural covering for outdoor areas.

Susi Thompson, owner of Dallas-based Thompson Landscape Architects, frequently uses clay pavers in her residential and commercial designs. She offers the following tips for homeowners who want to make a statement with clay pavers:

Real clay-fired brick pavers are more appropriate for traditional settings than concrete unit pavers. * Consider all the elements when making a paver selection. Very crisp wire-cut brick is suitable for formal designs, whereas soft and sandy textured wood-mold brick tends to work well in a more laid-back setting.

* Laying the pavers on edge (with the narrow face showing) gives a more refined and elegant look than the typical broad face showing and works especially well in a herringbone pattern. Of course, more bricks are required, and it is, therefore, more expensive. This installation is also difficult and should not be undertaken by a do-it-yourselfer.

INSTALL A PATIO YOURSELF

You don't have to be an award-winning designer, however, to enjoy the outdoor ambiance that only comes from genuine clay pavers. Doit-yourselfers can install a small patio themselves in one weekend if they follow the tips below:

Purchase materials and have them delivered in advance so that you can devote all your time to com-pleting your project. Two full days will be required to make this a weekend-only job.

* Have the delivery truck drop the materials off as close to your project site as possible to minimize heavy

* Make sure the area you pave has proper drainage (1/4 inch per foot slope away from foundations or other permanent struc-

* Preparation is the hardest part of the project - 70 percent of the real work is done before you start laying the pavers. Use any available equipment or resources to make the excavation of the necessary four inches of soil easier on you.
